

ACTIVITY REPORT

Lecture Meeting

on

“Artificial Pancreas: The need of Engineers”

Er. Rajeeb Dey, Assistant Professor, NIT, Silchar delivered a lecture on “Artificial Pancreas: The need of Engineers” on 17th November 2019 at 7 PM at The Institution of Engineers (India) Silchar Local Centre. Er. Gautam Dutta Choudhury, Chairman welcome Er. Rajeeb Dey and other members. The speaker Dr. Dey emphasis about the medical preliminaries of the diabetes disease and subsequently discussed about several key issues and complications pertaining to Type 1 /Type 2 Diabetes patients. In his speech he elaborated about the current research undertaken in India by the engineers and researchers across the country about development of Artificial Pancreas at a low cost for the benefit of the society. Dr. Dey dedicated the talk as an awareness programme for diabetes patients on the occasion of world Diabetes day which is observed worldwide on 14th November.

After his deliberation, Er. Biswajit Purkayastha, Honorary Secretary of the Centre offered vote of thanks. The meeting ended with the National Anthem.

